Justification:

1. Justification for Mapping of POs & PSOs

| Mapped POs/ PSOs | Weightage | Justification |
|------------------|-----------|---|
| PO1 | 2 | This activity moderately highlights the engineering knowledge of heating and cooling processes; and the conversion of heat into various energies including mechanical, chemical, and electrical energy. |
| PO2 | 1 | This activity highlights solving thermal analysis problems involving conduction, natural convection, forced convection, ambient radiation, internal (cavity) radiation, radiation in participating media, phase change, natural and forced convection, thermal stresses, and conjugate heat transfer. |
| PO3 | 1 | This activity highlights thermal analysis plays a critical role in the design of thermal solutions to ensure components are cooled enough to effectively operate. |
| PO5 | 1 | This activity focuses on advanced software tools such as CFD is a better method for estimating flow boundary conditions (heat transfer coefficient and fluid temperature) when the flow or structure geometry is complex. |
| PO8 | 1 | This activity highlights the importance of ethical values toward thermal engineering analysis and its applications. |
| PO12 | 1 | This activity focuses on presenting the broad range of current and future applications that involve advanced Technology in thermal engineering and software tools. The knowledge of these topics is helpful for the design and analysis of thermal systems. |
| PSO1 | 1 | This activity highlights current thermal engineering and makes it more efficient than the current thermal engineering by applying recent thermal technology. |
| PSO2 | 1 | This activity highlights the design of thermal components and analyzes thermal components to provide the optimum solutions. |

- The activity mapped with PO1, PO2, PO3, PO5, PO8, and PO12 was found satisfactory with attainment levels of 1.846, 0.923, 0.923, 0.923, 0.923 and 0.923 against the mapped values during the impact analysis.
- The activity mapped with PSO1 and PSO2 was found satisfactory with attainment levels of 0.923 and 0.923 against the mapped value during the impact analysis

Conclusion: The activity was organized to fulfill the program outcomes of engineering knowledge, problem analysis, design/development of solutions, Modern tool usage, Ethics and lifelong learning.

Future Suggestions: The CFD Software Training & other relevant thermal-related training, ideas, research innovations, and incubation cell activities help to promote the design and analysis of thermal systems.

| 8 | Expected Outcomes: | <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Electrical accidents can cause burns, shocks and electrocution, and without the proper electrical safety can lead to fatal accidents in a worst case scenario. 2. Electricity is everywhere, so reliable and useful these days that it is often taken for granted, and it is somewhat shocking how little is actually understood about its properties by the general public, another reason why electrical safety awareness is important. 3. How fatal electrical accidents typically occur in the high-risk workforce, is when an aerial lift or boom, or scaffolding set up, results in the unexpected connection with a power line, creating a circuit. | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | |

Impact Analysis and PO & PSO Attainment

Activity Name: Awareness Programme on Electrical Safety Measures

No. of Respondents (N): 44

Grand Total Points given by all Respondents (T): 1816

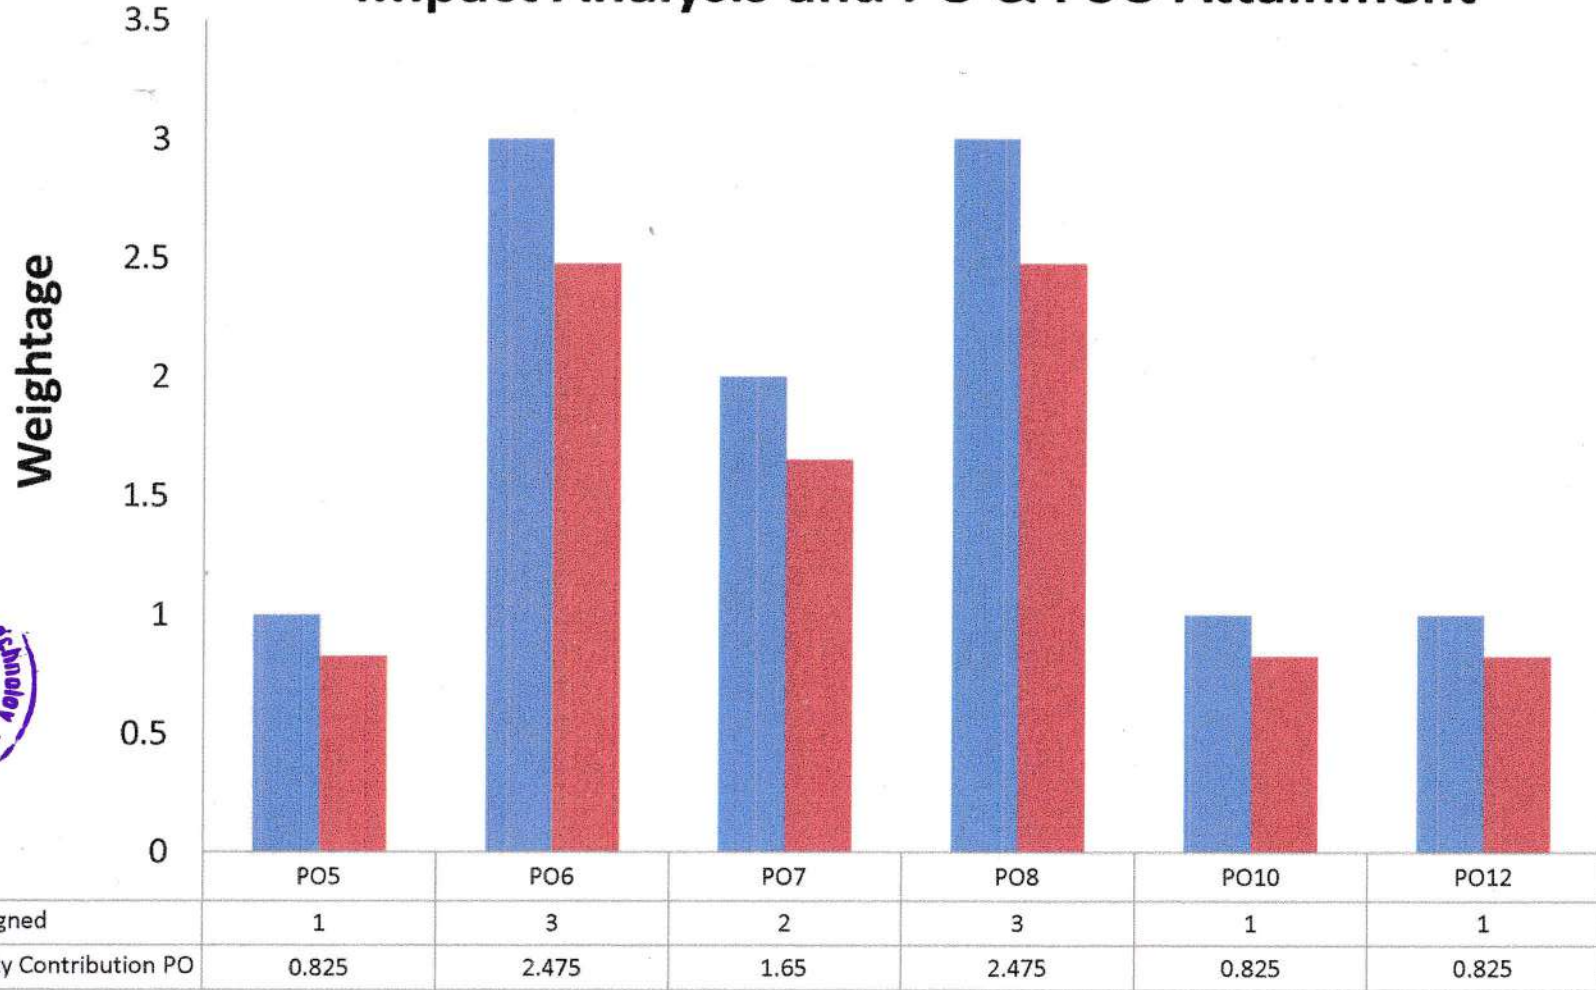

Impact Coefficient (IC=0-1): Here, $IC = T / (N * 50) = 1816 / (44 * 50) = 0.825$

| Mapped PO/s | Weightage Assigned (1/2/3) | PO Attained/Activity Contribution to the respective PO (IC*Weightage Assigned) | Mapped PSO/s | Weightage Assigned (1/2/3) | PSO Attained/Activity Contribution to the respective PSO (IC*Weightage Assigned) |

Impact Analysis and PO & PSO Attainment

Justification for Mapping of PO's & PSO's:

| Mapped POs/ PSOs | Weightage | Justification |
|------------------|-----------|---|
| PO5 | 1 | This activity helps to understand electrical safety control measures such as handling of electrical equipment or switchgear shall not be done with wet hand or body, electrical switches or access to them shall not block by any material, use appropriate personal protective equipment while working on electrical equipment, residual current device or earth leakage circuit breaker and use of non-conductive tools. |
| PO6 | 3 | This activity substantially highlights the engineer's perspective evolves into a responsibility that ensures electrical safety from conception of a need to the implementation of an idea. |
| PO7 | 2 | This activity moderately highlights as building systems become more integrated and the industry further embraces sustainable and environmental concepts into design, the importance of continued building operation is more critical. Besides familiar electrical equipment and systems, newer technologies like renewable energy systems and on-site power generation are increasingly becoming integral parts of many projects. |
| PO8 | 3 | This activity substantially highlights as an engineer, contractor, manufacturer, or maintenance personnel, and whether one's business is electrical in nature or not, electrical safety is a concern shared by all in the building industry. |
| PO10 | 1 | This activity highlights resources abound that enable one or one's agency to better recognize perspective and responsibility for electrical safety. With so many resources available, an electrical safety program should implement a method of sourcing the information into a manner that is easily accessible. An "Electrical Safety Library" is a start to organizing and making the vast information easier to access. |
| PO12 | 1 | This activity highlights electrical safety has been a concern for all since the time electricity became an essential part of everyone's daily lives. However, for those in the building industry, ownership of electrical safety is a necessity. The building industry and all those immediately affected by it often dictate the rules governing one's actions for the benefit of the end user. |

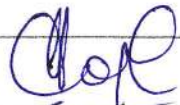

The activity mapped with PO5, PO6, PO7, PO8, PO10, and PO12 was found satisfactory with attainment level of 0.825, 2.475, 1.65, 2.475, 0.825 and 0.825 against the Mapped values during the impact analysis.

Conclusion: The activity organized to fulfill the program outcomes modern tool usage, engineer and society, environment and sustainability, ethics, communication, and lifelong learning.

Future Suggestions: Electrical safety requires a proactive approach most often initiated at an organizational level.

| 7 | Objectives: | <ol style="list-style-type: none"> To provide access to a wide range of resources, a highly educated workforce, and a supportive business environment that can help entrepreneurs launch and grow their businesses quickly and successfully. To make remarkable concentration of talented individuals, high-tech research universities, corporate R&D laboratories, and the largest concentration of venture capital funding in the nation. To implement culture of experimentation, a willingness to take risks, and embrace failure as a learning opportunity. This is why the Silicon Valley mindset may be more conducive to pursuing moon shot projects that are highly ambitious and risky. To develop four factors of production are land, labor, capital, and entrepreneurship. To start a tech business in such an ambience with an established business infrastructure, talented resource pool, and a flourishing marketplace provides a clear head start compared to other locations. |
| 8 | Expected Outcomes: | <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Silicon Valley has developed a strong workforce because it has located itself amid leading research universities such as Stanford and the University of California Berkeley. These universities help to cultivate the skills that workers need for jobs in the tech industry. India has some ingredients which are necessary to transform society into a hub of innovations. Silicon Valley is in the southern part of the San Francisco Bay Area in Northern California in the United States. The region is home to many of the world's largest technology companies including Apple, Cisco, Google, HP, Intel and Oracle. Silicon Valley was formed as a milieu of innovations by the convergence on one site of new technological knowledge; a large pool of skilled engineers and scientists from major universities in the area; generous funding from an assured market with the Defense Department; the development of an efficient network of venture capital firms; and, in the very early |

| | | stage, the institutional leadership of Stanford University. 5. Although semiconductors are still a major component of the area's economy, Silicon Valley has been most famous in recent years for innovations in software and Internet services. Silicon Valley has significantly influenced computer operating systems, software, and user interfaces. | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | |
